BEEF CUTS

A top-down photograph of three large, raw beef cuts, likely tri-tip or brisket, arranged vertically on a wooden cutting board. The meat is a deep red color with prominent white marbling and a thick layer of white fat along one edge. The cutting board is placed on a dark, textured surface, possibly slate or stone, which is scattered with coarse salt, small red and black peppercorns, and sprigs of fresh rosemary. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting the texture of the meat and the grain of the wood.
